O Numb. 366

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, June 19 1703

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 26.

Vienna, June 13.

ON the 10th arriv'd a Courier from the Army in Italy, with Advice, That the Duke de Vendome having fir'd upon Ponte Molino for 36 hours together, drew off from before it, and march'd by the way of Carpi and Zelo to Maſſa, where he is encamp'd within 2 Leagues of Oſtiglia.

Amſterdam, June 25. They write from Milan of the 9th, That 60 Waggons were come thither with Men that were wounded in attacking a Bridge over the Oglio, in which Action the French were repuls'd with great Loſs; and that General Vaubonne, who was ſent with a Detachment towards the Trentin to receive the Imperial Succours, is come back with them to the Army.

From the Army of the Imperialiſts encamp'd at Sieſſen, June 18. On the 16th Prince Lewis of Baden came hither Poſt from Weinheym, he has taken a Review of this Army, which he finds in good Condition: 2 or 3 days ago a Party of 70 of our Huſſars met 2 French Adjutant and ſome other Officers going towards Ausburg, whom they took Priſoners, with 30 Horſes and 5000 Gulders, and brought into the Camp; they have ſold the Horſes and ſhar'd the Booty among them, which came to 100 Gulders a Man; had they arriv'd at the Place where they took theſe French Officers but half an hour ſooner they might have taken the Elector of Bavaria himſelf, who with a ſlender Retinue rode Poſt that way. To day General Palfi went Poſt from hence to the Body of Forces under the Margrave of Bareith lying in the Neighbourhood of Nurenburg.

The Marſhal de Villars continues encamp'd at Brentz.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated June 26.

Stutgard, June 18. The French Lieutenant Collonel Monteri, with the Bavarian General Schellenburg, 4 Captains, and 1 Lieutenant, were taken Priſoners by a Party of Huſſars in the Wood of Sommerhau, with a conſiderable Booty in Horſes and Mony, and carry'd to Count Stirum's Army.

Frankfort, June 21. On the 16th Prince Lewis of Baden arriv'd in the Army of Count Stirum; Which is 30000 Men ſtrong, and as ſoon as their Artillery arrives, will, 'tis ſaid, march towards the Enemy.

Landau, June 18. 400 of our Foot and 200 Horſe are poſted at Lauterburg, and 400 Horſe at Kapſwyler, who have an Eye to the Motions of the Enemy. The Army commanded by the Duke of Burgundy lay yeſterday encamp'd at Schlydal. The Enemy has level'd our Lines, from Weyſenburg to St. Renich. Yeſterday the Duke of Burgundy took a Review of the Forces he commands, with Intention to march tomorrow.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 26.

Heydelberg, June 19. The Enemy make no Motions yet towards beſieging Landau; to day the Duke of Burgundy came with his Army to Langenſcheydel 2 Leagues above Lauterburg, he has 28 Battallions and 36 Squadrons, making 20000 Men; his Artillery conſiſts of 50 Field-pieces, 10 Pieces for Battery, and 6 Mortars. Under the Cannon of Landau lye encamp'd 3000 Horſe and 30 Troops of Huſſars; and the Place is garriſon'd with 4381 Foot, 100 Huſſars Horſe, and 150 Huſſars Foot.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated June 26.

Heilbron, June 19. The Count de Frieſe has diſcover'd a Conſpiracy of ſome of the chief Inhabitants of Landau to betray that City to the French; in order to which 'tis reported, that the 2 ruling Burgomaſters, 3 of the Common Council, and the Town-Clerk, contriv'd to blow up the Magazine by means of a Mine that had Communication with it, and which the French, on Surrender of the Place, did not diſcover to the Imperialiſts; this was to have been executed on the 15th: but their Plot was found out by ſome Letters which were intruſted to 2 Beggars, who deliver'd them into the Hands of the Count de Frieſe. Whether theſe are the true Circumſtances of this Matter we know not, but this is certain, That the Burgomaſter du Clou, la Place one of the Common Council, and Groſſet the Town-Clerk, and a French Man in whoſe Houſe about 1000 Firelocks ready charg'd were found, together with 2 eminent Citizens of French Extraction, are brought to Philipsburg under a Guard of 400 Cuiraſſiers, and their Wives and Children are turn'd out of Landau, where ſtrict Search is made after their Complices.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated June 21.

Potſdam, June 12. The Imperial Reſident has had a Conference with the Miniſters of this Court, in which he repreſented to them the Dangerous Condition the Empire is in: Since which the King has been pleas'd to declare, That for the Good of the common Cauſe he will ſend 7000 Men to ſerve on the Upper Rhine, and maintain them there at his own Charge as long as the Danger laſts. Accordingly Orders were given to day to ſeveral Regiments to begin their March thither. The Prince of Anhalt Deſſau being made a Lieutenant General on the 10th, 'tis believ'd the Command of theſe Troops will be confer'd on him.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 26.

Berlin, June 16. Within 14 days, 6 Battallions of Foot and 3 Regiments of Horſe of our King's Troops will march from the Lower toward the Upper Rhine, the Prince of Anhalt Deſſau is to commaud them: The King is at Roſendael where my Lord Raby has had a private Audience of him.

From the Army of the Allies commanded by the Duke of Marlborough encamp'd at Hanneff, June 25.

The two Armies continue in their former Camps. But we are preparing to decamp, in order to oblige the Enemy to do the like. On the 23d, The Duke of Grafton, Major General Ingoldsby, Brigadier Hamilton, the Earl of Barrymore, and ſeveral other Officers, with about 600 Recruits, joyn'd the Army. Abundance of Deſerters come over to us daily from the Enemy.

From the Camp at Stabroeck, June 24. Yeſterday ſome Regiments of Saxe-Gothans and Holſteiners arriv'd here. Yeſterday 1500 Horſe and 1000 Foot advanc'd within a League of the Enemies Lines, to view the Situation of the Ground before them. Deſerters ſerters tell us, that the Enemy has 50 Battallions and 30 Squadrons in their Lines. They have cut a Digue to hinder our Troops from marching from Hulſt towards Antwerp. Within a day or two, this and the other Bodies of our Troops in Flanders, will march and enter upon Action.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 26.

Amſterdam, June 25. A Swediſh Ship that came into the Vlie on the 21ſt, reports, that 3 days before ſhe came up with 5 French Men of War, and 2 Privateers, near the Dogger-Sand; and within a few hours after, met 7 Engliſh Men of War cruiſing in ſearch of the Enemy.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated June 26.

Amſterdam, June 25. 'Tis reported here, That 7 French Men of War, 2 of which are commanded by the Count de St. Paul and Monſieur Pointi, viz. 4 of Dunkirk, 1 of Havre de Grace, 1 of Oſtend, and 1 of St. Malo, are cruiſing between the Dogger-Sand and the Vlie; which is confirm'd by Ships that are come up from the Vlie; with this Addition, that they appear daily near the Coaſt.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated June 23.

Amſterdam, June 24. We have Advice from France, by Letters from the Neutral Countries, of the 12th of this Month, that the Malecontents of the Sevennes have lately defeated 400 of the Royaliſts, but the Particulars of the Action are not known, becauſe 'tis ſo difficult to convey Letters out of that Country: In general we are aſſur'd that the Malecontents defend themſelves vigorouſly, and commonly are too hard for the King's Troops.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated June 26.

Amſterdam, June 25. Letters from Geneva of the 15th ſay, That the Camiſars having Intelligence of the Engliſh Fleet's being on the Coaſt of Poitou, were very much rejoyc'd at it; that their Number is ſince increas'd; that they are Maſters of the Field, and that the Product of the Ground this Harveſt will be at their Diſpoſition.

Schafouyſen, June 16. One of the Head Officers of the King of France's Troops that are employ'd in the Sevennes, in a Letter to a Friend of his, giving ſome Account of the War in thoſe Parts, has this Paſſage. 'We have the cruelleſt War here that ever 'was known, for neither ſide gives any Quarter: 'Yeſterday we diſcover'd a Party of Camiſars, I was 'order'd with 4 Troops of Dragoons lately rais'd in 'Languedoc to attack them; in the beginning of the 'Action they defended themſelves couragiouſly, but 'after a Fight of an hour retir'd into a Wood; we 'kill'd 80 of them, among them 8 Women; I loſt '10 Dragoons and had 30 wounded.

From the Harlem Courant, dated June 26.

Liege, June 22. We have receiv'd certain Advice from the Sevennes, that the Camiſars have beaten 1200 of the King's Troops, and taken ſeveral Officers.

Cowes, June 16. Yeſterday a Dutch Privateer brought in here a Ship, Engliſh Built, Burden 140 Tons, laden with Salt from Nantz, bound for Newfoundland.

Deale, June 17. To day came in Rear Admiral Beaumont in Her Majeſty's Ship the Mary, with the Tilbury, Rocheſter, Weymouth, and Chatham, and brought in 2 French Privateers as Prizes, one of 10 Guns, the other of 8.

London, June 18. Yeſterday Sir George Rooke arriv'd at Spithead.
